

AI for Pricing — Worksheet

Use this worksheet to audit your current pricing, research your market rate using AI, and build a tiered pricing structure that reflects your actual value.

Question 1 — Your Current Pricing Audit

Example: I charge ■15,000 per logo. I have been charging this for 2 years. I have never checked the market rate. I set this price based on what I thought clients would pay.

My service / gig:
My current rate (■):
How I arrived at this price:
When I last reviewed my rate:

Question 2 — Research Your Market Rate Using AI

Example AI prompt: 'What is a fair pricing range for a Nigerian logo designer with 3 years of experience serving small businesses in Lagos?' Result: ■50,000 – ■150,000 per project. I was charging ■15,000.

The AI prompt I will use:
Market rate range AI returned:
Where I sit in that range & why:

Supported by

AI for Pricing — Worksheet

Question 3 — Build Your 3-Tier Pricing Structure

Example (Photography): Basic – ₦100,000 (2hr shoot, 20 photos) | Standard – ₦250,000 (4hr, 50 photos, print album) | Premium – ₦400,000 (full day, 100+ photos, video reel).

Basic Tier (₦ & what's included):
Standard Tier (₦ & what's included):
Premium Tier (₦ & what's included):

Question 4 — Adjust for Your Reality

Example: I am in Abuja, not Lagos — I adjusted my rates 10% lower for local clients. For international clients I price in USD and add a 4% Payoneer fee to my rate.

Adjustments for my city / audience:
How I will handle international clients:

Supported by

AI for Pricing — Worksheet

Question 5 — Write Your Rate Statement

Example: 'My standard package is ■150,000. This includes 3 logo concepts, 2 revision rounds, and delivery of all source files within 5 working days. I require 50% upfront to begin.'

My confident rate statement (write it in full):
---	--

Question 6 — Your Rate Review Commitment

Example: I will review my rates on 1 April and 1 October each year. I will raise rates by 15% when I complete 5 more portfolio projects. I will re-run my AI market research prompt every 6 months.

Next rate review date:
Trigger that will prompt a rate increase:

Reflection

What is the ONE pricing change you will make before your next client conversation?

--

Supported by