

Data-Driven Financial Decisions — Worksheet

You don't need an accounting degree to run your finances well. You just need five numbers, three simple reports, and a monthly review rhythm. This worksheet walks you through all of it — one section at a time.

Question 1 — Track Your 5 Important Numbers This Month (Video 7.1)

Fill in your actual figures for this month. If you don't have them yet, open your bank statement now and count.

#	What to Track	Example	My Amount This Month
1	Total Income	■500,000
2	Total Expenses	■300,000
3	Profit (Income – Expenses)	■200,000
4	Savings Amount	■60,000
5	Outstanding Invoices	■80,000

Question 2 — What Does Your Profit Tell You? (Video 7.1)

Example: My profit this month was ■200,000. That is 40% of income. Last month it was ■120,000. I am growing — but expenses also rose by ■50,000.

My profit this month:
Compared to last month, it is:
What this tells me about my business:

Supported by

GATEWAY Program

In partnership with
RC 918338
Page 1 of 4

Data-Driven Financial Decisions — Worksheet

Question 3 — Your Net Worth Snapshot (Video 7.2)

Example: I own — Laptop ■800,000 + Savings ■500,000 = ■1,300,000. I owe — Loan ■300,000. Net Worth = ■1,000,000.

What I Own (Assets)

What I Owe (Liabilities)

My Net Worth
(Assets – Liabilities):

--

Question 4 — Your Monthly Management Review (Video 7.3)

Example: My highest-paying client this month was a branding project — ■180,000. My rising expense was software subscriptions — up ■15,000. I overspent on transport.

Which client paid the most?
Which service made the most profit?
Which expense increased this month?
Where did I overspend?

Supported by

Data-Driven Financial Decisions — Worksheet

Question 5 — Set Up Your Simple Tracking System (Video 7.4)

Example: I use Google Sheets with columns: Date | Client | Income | Expense | Category | Paid? | Notes. I update it every Friday morning.

The tool I will use to track my finances:

- ☐ Google Sheets
 ☐ Excel
 ☐ Notion
☐ Wave Accounting
 ☐ Kuda Analytics
 ☐ Other

My column headers will be:
I will update my tracker:

Question 6 — Turn Your Numbers into Decisions (Video 7.5)

Example: Income dropped last month. Decision: I will post 3 times a week on Instagram and follow up on 5 cold leads. Expenses rose — I will cancel 2 unused subscriptions.

If income dropped this month, I will:
If expenses rose, I will:
If profit is low, I will:

Supported by

GATEWAY Program

Co-creation HUB Ltd

Page 3 of 4

In partnership with

Data-Driven Financial Decisions — Worksheet

Question 7 — Your Monthly Review Rhythm (Video 7.6)

Example: Week 1 — I review income every 1st Monday. Week 2 — I log all expenses by Wednesday. Week 3 — I check savings on the 15th. Week 4 — I plan next month on the last Friday.

Week 1 — Review income on:
Week 2 — Log expenses by:
Week 3 — Check savings on:
Week 4 — Plan next month on:

I commit to running this monthly review starting from:

Reflection

Looking at your 5 numbers this month — what is the ONE thing you will change next month?

Supported by

GATEWAY Program

Co-creation HUB Ltd

RC 516336
Page 4 of 4

