

Pricing & Value Worksheet

Pricing begins with value. Use this worksheet to identify what you uniquely offer, choose the right pricing model for your gig work, and practise communicating your rates with clarity and confidence.

Question 1 — Your Value Proposition

Example: I am a fast-turnaround video editor who delivers broadcast-quality work within 24 hours, helping brands publish content before their competitors.

My skill / service is...	e.g. – social media content creation
The outcome I deliver for clients...	e.g. – more engagement & paying customers
What makes me different...	e.g. – speed, reliability, industry knowledge

Question 2 — Choosing Your Pricing Model

Example: I currently use project-based pricing because my design briefs have clear scopes. As I grow, I plan to shift to value-based pricing.

My current pricing model:

☐ Time-based (per hour / day)
 ☐ Project-based (fixed scope)
 ☐ Value-based (outcome-driven)

Why this model works for my gig...	e.g. – clients prefer predictable costs

Question 3 — Setting Your Rate

Example: My base project rate is ■150,000 / $100. I arrived at this by calculating my monthly expenses (■300,000), dividing by 4 projects, then adding a 25% buffer for taxes and savings.

My minimum monthly income target...	e.g. – ■250,000 / $200
Number of gigs / clients per month...	e.g. – 4 projects
My base rate per gig / hour...	e.g. – ■65,000 / $55 per project

Question 4 — Defining Scope & Deliverables

Example: For a social media package, my scope includes: 12 posts, 3 revisions, delivery in 7 days, 50% upfront and 50% on completion. Anything outside this is billed separately.

What is included in my standard offer...	e.g. – 3 logo concepts, 2 revision rounds
Delivery timeline & revision limits...	e.g. – 5 working days, max 2 revisions
Payment structure...	e.g. – 60% upfront, 40% on delivery

Question 5 — Your Client Pitch (write it out)

Example: "For this project, my fee is ■120,000. This includes logo design, brand colours, and a one-page style guide. Delivery is 7 days. I require 60% upfront and 40% on completion."

I will say...	Write your full pitch sentence here
---------------	-------------------------------------

Question 6 — Sustainability & Growth Check

Example: At my current rate, I can cover expenses and save 20%. In 6 months I will review my pricing and raise rates by 15% as I build my portfolio.

At my current rate, can I save consistently?	Yes / No — explain why
When will I review my rates next?	e.g. – October 2025, after 5 completed projects

Reflection

What is the ONE pricing change you will make before your next client conversation?
